Long Bio

As a young man Will's wish to end suffering and a deep yearning to know Truth fuelled years of intensive spiritual exploration. Much Zen practice, energy healing, shamanic exploration, yoga, Qi Gong, philosophical study and scientific research led to a naturally cured depression and awakening. At 31 a brain cancer diagnosis served as initiation into living in service of healing, transformation and awakening.

Since then Will has left behind a successful business to serve as a Transformational Coach, Speaker, Author and Spiritual Entertainer. He gives talks, shares presence and facilitates insight with groups in workshops and retreats around the world.

Influenced by Zen, Christian Mysticism, Sufism, Quantum Mechanics and Neuroscience Will offers practical wisdom, emphasizing direct experience and revelation whether via meditation, gratitude, plant spirit medicine, dancing, lovemaking or listening to a tree dancing with the sun.

Working with groups Will offers and invites innocence, curiosity and play. Several paradoxes are held; teaching and learning occur yet there is no teacher nor teaching; gathering in exploration of consciousness, being, love, stillness is unspeakably sacred yet, it being what we already are, a bit of a joke; bowing to transpersonal presence yet celebrating individual uniqueness; surrendering to the group energy field's movement yet appreciating each person's process.

Will invites exploration of a way of being he calls Radical Gratitude. Here every breath, pain, thought, identity and contraction are recognized to be God making Love with Itself as we realize the naturally joyful love of Being.

Will can also be found handing out Love Letters to strangers as part of a global movement of love and awakening he founded – The Love & Truth Party: (www.loveandtruthparty.org) and also hosts the popular podcast The TruthLover: (www.loveandtruthparty.podbean.com)
